

Schoolhouse for Sale

A PRELIMINARY statement from the Arkansas Education association, opening its convention at Little Rock Thursday, pleads for federal appropriations to the common schools—at the same time demanding retention of local and state control of the schools.

This newspaper was the first daily paper in Arkansas to advocate enactment of a state sales tax for the schools, and we have earnestly defended every bill that we believed would help the cause of free public education.

But we are unalterably opposed to tying up the local school system with a distant federal capital. We have always opposed the proposition to create a new federal cabinet post for education, which some educators desire; and we are opposed to making the local schools of America permanently dependent on federal funds.

The idea that federal money can be accepted without accountability to the federal government for choice of books, curriculum, teachers, and other details of management, is entirely utopian.

Whoever grants money also exercises control. Educators teach actions—but seldom understand their application.

If education were merely a question of mass production, the finding of so much money to pay so many teachers to instruct so many pupils, without regard to who did the teaching or what matters they taught, then it would be entirely permissible to link up the local school system with the federal political machine.

That such a link does occur wherever federal funds are used, is perfectly patent in the matter of public highways.

The state obtains large grants of money from Washington for the building of highways. But everything, from the route and materials and cost, down to the engineer and the contractor, must bear the approval of the U. S. Bureau of Roads, or there's no highway.

We can permit this when we are dealing with inanimate things like highways and crops things that are measured in terms of dollars.

But the person who applies this notion to education is simply one of the bookish crowd who believe America can be run-printed all in one piece.

If this is one nation in the complete sense of the word, with the same songs, the same traditions, the same heroes, on every mountain-top and in every valley, then I am an indolent observer and have remained all these years a most ignorant person.

And yet no one is quite so ignorant as the crowd who know nothing but books.

Council Provides New Electric Line

Extension for Rocky Mound—Aid Also Given Public Library

Fey H. Hammons, general Robert football coach, moved to his country home at Rocky Mound over the weekend—but upon arriving found himself without electric lights.

Hammons complained to the city council Tuesday night that he didn't like to "live in the dark ages."

He applied for electric lights for his new home. He got action. The council passed a motion to immediately start work on a right-of-way for a light line to the Rocky Mound community.

The municipal plant is extending its lines in a seven-mile radius of Hope, the formal dedication of the opening of the first rural lines being held at Spring Hill in September.

W. M. Ramsey, owner of Chickadee cafe, appeared before the council and asked that the Missouri Pacific railroad be granted a bus station at Third and Main streets, and to prohibit parking there so the buses might park.

A motion was then carried asking the police committee to investigate and report at the next meeting on the feasibility of a bus station at Third and Main streets.

E. P. Young, chairman of the police committee, reported that the committee had selected Fair park as the site for the erecting of the city's automobile testing station. The council accepted the recommendation.

The council passed a motion to purchase two new boilers for the water and light plant. The matter was referred to the Board of Public Affairs for its recommendation.

The council then passed a motion to contribute $25 per month to the Public Library for the purchase of books and supplies. This contribution, it was understood, will extend for a period of 12 months.

The WPA will contribute $72.50 per month for operation of the library and the purchase of new books and supplies. This and the city's contribution, will provide the library with nearly $100 per month for the next 12 months.

The Program
The following tentative program has been arranged:
10 a. m. Group singing.
Invocation.
Remarks: Mrs. Lee Garland, County Council President; Miss Melrose, Burlington, home demonstration agent; Roll Call: Mrs. Wilbur D. Jones, secretary.
Minutes: Mrs. Wilbur D. Jones, secretary.
Playlet: "The Jones Family Lives at Home" Mrs. C. P. Zimmerman, Mrs. A. G. Zimmerman, Melrose Home Demonstration club.

Reading: Mrs. O. A. McKnight.

Dionne Quints Have Never Been Spanked, But Are Strictly Disciplined Other Ways

5 Well-Behaved Youngsters Result of Good Training

Isolation in Separate Room Brings Unruly One to Terms

TORONTO TRAINING

System of St. George's School Is Applied to Famous Quints

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of seven articles telling for the first time what science has learned about the Dionne quintuplets. The articles are based on scientific papers read before Canadian and American scientists at a special meeting in Toronto.

By BRUCE CATTON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

TORONTO, Ont.—The Dionne quintuplets have never been spanked and they never will be spanked. Nevertheless, they are subject to strict discipline—and, as a result, are pretty obedient and well-behaved young ladies.

Since they were a year old the quintuplets have been taught that they have to obey—or ELSE. More than that, they have learned that they can get what they want only by obeying, and that if they refuse to follow the routine laid down for them they invariably have to take the consequences.

These "consequences" are never so very terrible. The worst that happens to a disobedient quint is a spell of isolation in a separate room. But because this system has worked so well on the quintuplets, it might be worth the attention of parents who are wondering how on earth they can ever get Junior to mind.

Nobody worried about discipline when the quintuplets were tiny, of course. Everyone was too busy with the all-important job of keeping them alive. But as the sisters passed the crisis, the guardians faced the problem of installing the proper routine of child-training.

After much study, it was decided to inaugurate the system in use at St. George's School for Child Study, in Toronto.

Wanted Happy Medium
That was done more than two years ago. What happened thereafter is now revealed in a paper written by Dr. W. E. Blatz, director of St. George's School and D. A. Millicamp, assistant director.

The object of the training program was not to develop children who never disobey, but to reach a happy balance between obedience and disobedience. As the psychologists put it, "we believe an individual should be non-compliant but he should keep his non-compliance within the limits of social behavior."

In other words, if a quint refuses to wash her hands before dinner, she doesn't get punished or argued with—she simply doesn't get dinner until she washes.

If she prefers going without dinner, that's her privilege. No one suffers but herself.

On the other hand, however, if she creates a disturbance during the story hour she is at once removed to the isolation room, or "dog house"; for this kind of disobedience disturbs the whole group. Hence she is disciplined for the second kind of disobedience, but not for the first.

That is why you will notice some odd things when you study the discipline records of the different quintuplets.

Annette a Non-Conformist
Annette, for instance, breaks the law the most—or, as the psychologists quantify it, shows the largest number of non-compliance incidents. And yet Annette is disciplined the least of all the sisters.

Marie makes three times the number of non-compliance incidents—but draws down the most discipline. A good part of Marie's trouble is due to the fact that she is still the baby of the group; 41 per cent of her non-compliance is simply crying. She offers actual physical resistance to authority.

Fall From Chair Kills Local Man

Lee Watkins, 67, Dies of Porch Accident of October 5

Lee Watkins, 67, farmer living on the Hope-Washington road, died at his home at 7:30 a. m. Thursday of a broken neck.

Watkins was injured October 5 when he toppled from a chair on his back porch to the ground, sustaining the neck injury which caused paralysis from the waist down.

Following the injury, Watkins had been confined to his room at home seriously to be moved to a hospital.

He is survived by his widow, several sons and daughters. Funeral services, although not definitely announced, will probably be held Friday afternoon.

Mr. Watkins had been a resident of Hempstead county many years.

Ask U. S. Funds for Common Schools

But Arkansas Educators Want Local Control Retained

LITTLE ROCK, (P)—The state council of education, governing body of the Arkansas Education association, adopted a resolution Thursday urging the appropriation of federal funds to aid the common schools, with the reservation that control of the schools remain in the hands of local and state authorities.

The council session formally opened the annual convention of the AEA.

Cattle on Tracks, Fireman Is Killed

Illinois Central Train Is Wrecked Near Batesville, Miss.

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

The charts record the quintuplets' non-compliance behavior—which is what the psychologists call refusal to obey—and the frequency with which discipline is applied, with both records divided to show comparison between the first and second periods of the quintuplets' lives. Note how misbehavior in the outdoor play period rose sharply at the end of the first period, while discipline was relaxed; the second period shows a marked change.

P-T. A. Welfare Head Calls Special Meet

Mrs. C. O. Thomas, welfare chairman of the city P. T. A. council, announced Thursday a called meeting of welfare chairman and presidents of each P. T. A. unit to meet at 3 p. m. Friday.

The special meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas, 517 West Fourth street. It is important that each head of the P. T. A. units attend, Mrs. Thomas said.

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—(P)—The sheriff's office reported Thursday that a $6,000 consignment of registered mail, taken from a government truck by two gunmen Wednesday night, was found under the home of a suburban druggist.

Lieutenant Ray Bergh said the druggist killed himself shortly after the robbery.

DUKE RETAINS HIM

Bedaux Says Windsor Confirms Him on Atlantic Telephone

WASHINGTON, (P)—The Duke of Windsor will not change his designation of Charles E. Bedaux as his representative on his American tour despite American Federation of Labor criticism of Bedaux, the latter indicated Thursday.

Bedaux said in a statement released through his press representative that he had talked with the duke over the telephone, and that the abdicated king is "looking forward with all the enthusiasm of a young man to his visit to the United States."

The statement was issued shortly after William Green, president of the A. F. of L., said he approved the action of the Baltimore Federation of Labor in criticizing the duke for the selection of Bedaux.

Bedaux is the inventor of the industrial system which the A. F. of L.'s resolution characterized as the "stretch-out."

Will Serve With Britain, Belgium in Sino-Jap War

BRUSSELS, Belgium.—(P)—The Brussels conference of 13 nations decided Thursday to empower its sub-committee to offer aid to Japan and China in effecting peace between the two nations. It was reliably indicated that the United States, Great Britain and Belgium will be on the committee.

By the Associated Press

The way was cleared partially Thursday for Japan to open direct peace talks with China.

Instead of re-inviting Japan to participate in the Brussels conference on methods of ending the Chinese-Japanese conflict, the leaders of the peace move decided to send Japan an appeal to start peace negotiations.

This step, decided upon at a private meeting of leaders in the Belgian foreign office, is yet to be ratified by the full conference which is seeking to bring peace on the basis of the nine-power pact.

Meanwhile, the conflicting armies were still locked in deadly conflict in China, a temporary stalemate apparently holding the opposing lines relatively stationary.

In Spain, the insurgent armies were reported on the offensive south of the Aragon region which resulted in the capture of strategic mountain positions near Fuentes.

Campaign Promises and 'Coon Hounds

THE most stimulating little story of the fall has to do with the politician over in Kentucky who got into a jam with the authorities for promising too much to the voters.

This man was running for his party's nomination for sheriff. As the backbone of his campaign platform, he vowed that, if elected, he would not collect the dog tax on 'coon hounds—which, considering the wide-spread ownership of 'coon dogs in his balivick, was calculated to appeal to everybody.

But a circuit judge stepped in and ruled that this was an attempt to bribe the electorate. For that reason, the judge ruled the candidate off the ballot and brought his campaign to an inglorious conclusion.

TO the baffled candidate, to say nothing of the 'coon dog owners of Kentucky one must extend sympathy. But it is impossible to avoid a little dreamy speculation about the revolution that would be worked in American politics if this circuit judge's ruling should be applied to all candidates for office, high and low.

Promising everybody everything is the oldest standby of our campaigns. Everyone does it. The Kentuckian, limiting himself to one direct appeal to the 'coon dog vote, seems to have been pretty moderate. If a candidate can't offer special privileges to different groups of voters, how is any American ever to run for anything?

Take the congressman, for example. He has to promise things: a new postoffice, or an appropriation for dredging, straightening and beautifying Mud creek, or an extra share of the relief allowance for his district. Such promises are his stock in trade. How could he live without them?

Or—to ascend to more rarefied air—consider the presidential candidate. Boiled down, his platform usually amounts to just about this: elect me and I will see that you are prosperous and happy, that the wolf stays far from your door, that foreign peace and domestic order reign, that your taxes will be reduced and your businesses flourish. My opponent is too unworthy and untrustworthy to give you these things, but I—I will be the fountainhead of all good things.

OUTLAW campaign promises, and you would immobilize a good percentage of all our presidential candidates—past, present and to come. The situation is dreadful to contemplate. But we might, just possibly, live through it. We might be able to struggle through to an order of things in which candidates offered themselves to the electorate on the basis of principles, not promises; in which we elect men not because of what they were going to get for us, but because of how they were going to guide our efforts to help ourselves.

The transition period would be bewildering, but in the end we ought to have a much saner and healthier political life.

Testing Agreements

INTERNATIONAL agreements, like most other human acts are to be judged by the fruits; so the world will have to wait a little while to learn whether the most recent volunteer-withdrawal scheme is really going to give the Spanish civil war back to the people of Spain.

The reason why no such agreement can be accepted at its face value until its actual fruits can be examined is, of course, the perfectly obvious fact that the foreign powers involved are not primarily interested in getting the volunteers out of Spain. They are chiefly concerned with seeing to it that one side or the other gets some advantage out of the deal. It is a safe bet that if they can work this new withdrawal agreement to provide such an advantage they will do it.

So we can only wait and see . . . while Spain continues to suffer her long agony of a war which half of Europe is helping to keep alive.

The Family Doctor

T. M. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Illness, Injury or Disturbed Diet May Change Shape and Color of Fingernails

This is the twelfth of a series of articles in which Dr. Morris Fishben discusses diseases of the skin.

(No. 362)

Fingernails are frequently changed as to their shape, color or in other ways as a result of illness or a disturbance of the diet.

Transverse grooves will appear on the fingernails after any illness and serious changes will result after a long severe illness. Overenthusiastic care of the fingernails, such as pushing down the cuticle too roughly, cutting it or cutting the nail bed through the cuticle, may also bring about transverse ridges on the nail.

Longitudinal ridges, small pits in the nail, or splitting of the nail may also follow illness or damage to the nail bed.

In some families queer formations of the nails are hereditary. They may be spoon-shaped or curved in other ways. There are instances in which shedding of the fingernails has occurred after an infectious disease in which the skin peels.

White spots on the fingernails are by some people thought to be a sign of good luck and are also called gift spots. In most instances, however, a disappearance of color in this manner indicates an injury to the nail bed or sometimes a development of a general disease associated with a disturbance of the nutrition of the nail.

A thickening of the nails is also associated with various diseases of the skin, and particularly with infection by ringworm. One of the nails most commonly thickened is the nail of the big toe. Attention to the removal of the ringworm and suitable paring and scraping of the nail will in some instances bring about a restoration to normal.

Ingrown toenails are caused by pressure of the skin around the nail which, in turn, is a result of wearing shoes that are too short or too tight. If the portion of the nail that is ingrown is carefully cut out and if measures are then taken to prevent the pressure and tightness, recovery usually follows.

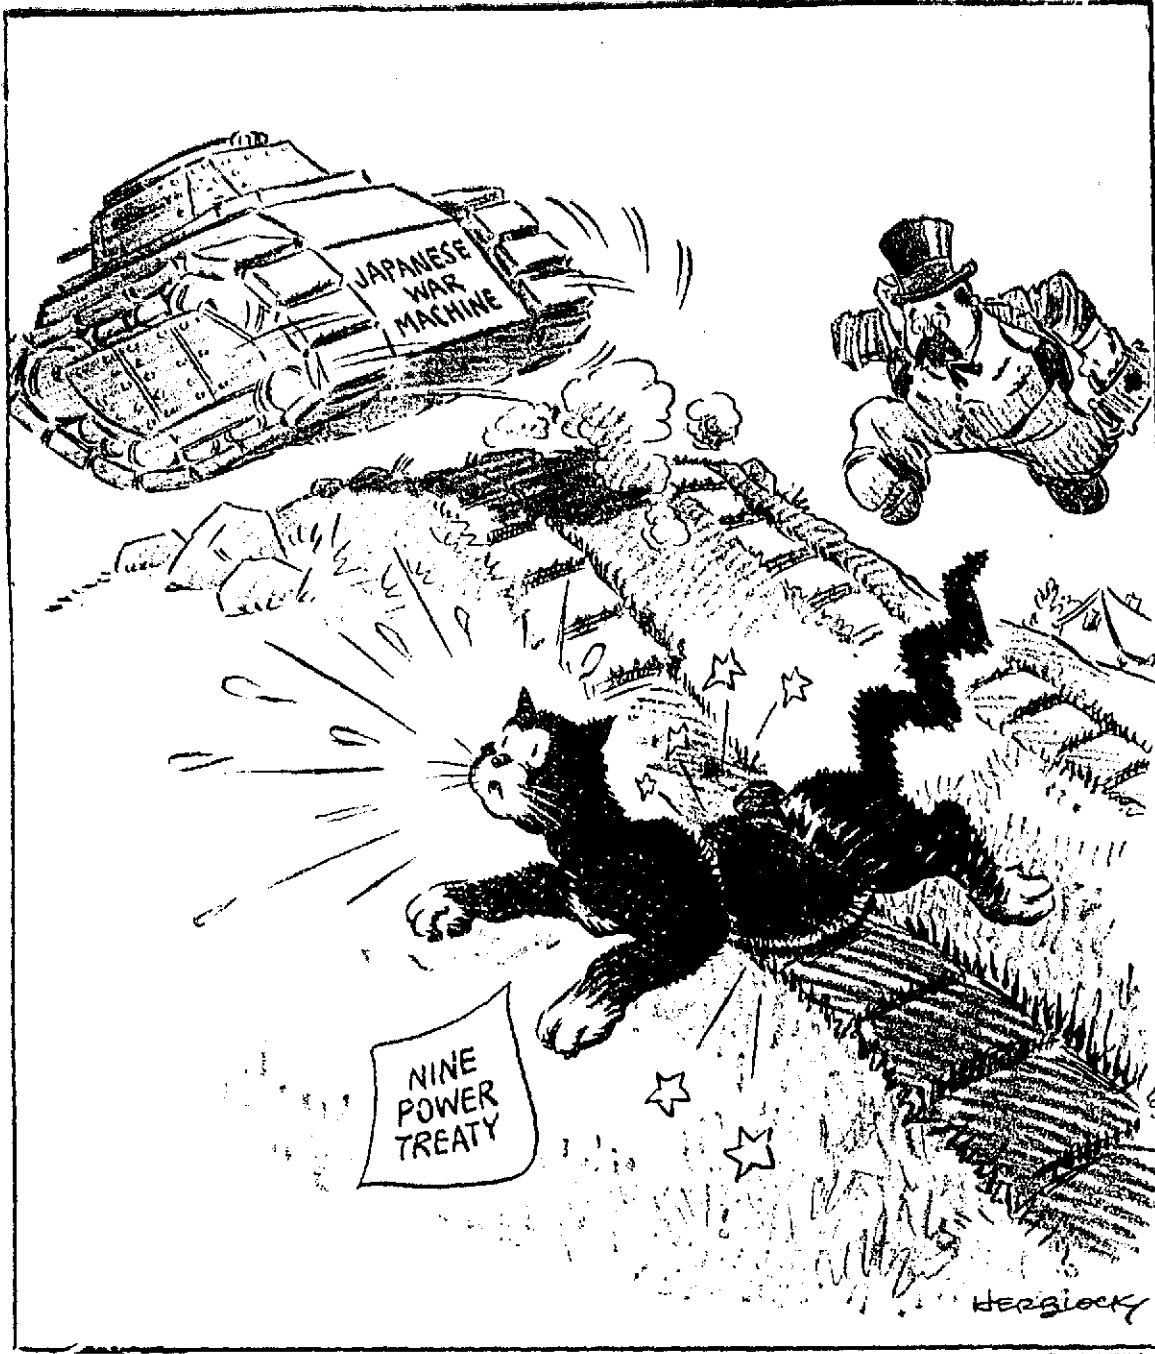

In many instances, however, attention will have to be given by a well-trained specialist in diseases of the feet who is capable of using instruments that are suitably sterilized and of applying the necessary antiseptic substances to prevent secondary infection.

Whenever the toenails are cut, if there is the slightest sign that severe damage to the skin has occurred, a suitable antiseptic, such as tincture of iodine, should be applied to prevent secondary infection.

NEXT: Ringworms.

It has been shown that cadmium, a metal well known only to chemists and metallurgists, when substituted for tin in babbitt is useful in bearings and will operate at temperatures up to 570 degrees Fahrenheit satisfactorily.

How Many Lives Left?

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Child's Sophistication Is Problem in Nearly Every Modern Home

Possibly the greatest conflict of parents today is whether to go along with the world as far as their children are concerned, or to fight it. Children are worldly wise today; the things they say and do indicate a wide knowledge of formerly tabooed subjects. Just where they learn so-and right. There never was, only as long as children thought so, their standards were easy to fix.

We have also more cases in real life now, of entertainment and unhappiness. It is nothing nowadays to hear a neighbor frankly discussing her marital troubles before the world, where before she would have buried it in her heart, and died almost before she mentioned it or allowed it to be mentioned.

Children Do Observe

In short, it is an open age, what with radio, screen and a new cult of frankness everywhere. How could children possibly escape knowing about human affairs today? This does not necessarily mean that they are contaminated, but merely wise.

Now then, up against this situation goes the mother with her own ideas of wholesome enlightenment for her family. She tries to tell her boys and girls that they must pay no attention to their eyes and ears. "Irregularity is wicked," she repeats.

"Is it?" says Mary to herself with a mental reservation. "There was that lovely girl in the show last night who wasn't wicked. It was not her fault, and I thought she was a dear."

Or, "Is it?" Bob says to himself. "If I had that sour puss for a wife like Uncle Harry, and she wouldn't give me a divorce, I'd take up with a pleasant girl like Rose and not think I was cheating anybody."

We can say that growing children should not think such thoughts, but you see they are thinking them. Can mothers go on hoping that their children are blind and deaf? A serious situation, yes, but true nevertheless.

Take Adult Approach
The normal way would be to have young people grow in knowledge slowly, as judgment and experience qualify them to meet it. Thus fortified, and fixed in normal sense, they would be safer, there is no doubt. It is not so much a case of what is best, but of what we can do with a situation that exists.

If a mother knows very well that her children are worldly wise, smart and "nobody's fools," it is hopeless for her to continue to treat them as infants who have heard not, seen not, and talked not.

She must face facts and take off the blinders. First of all she must not be shocked at their frankness. Otherwise they will put her down as the infant. And she still has influence, notwithstanding. She can show how self-control and unpleasant duty are the foundation of conflicting forces. And she may drop the word "wicked" if it irks her sophisticated, and substitute "unwise."

Above all, she can dwell on the enormous dangers of free will, and the unhappiness that follows upon weakness and license.

A stamp catalog by Dexter and Cliney, published by Sever and Francis, in Cambridge, Mass., in 1933, was the first book on stamps or stamp collecting to be published in the United States.

JILL
BY MARY RAYMOND
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JILL WENTWORTH, heroine, attractive debutante.
ALAN JEFFERY, hero, rising young star.
BARRY WENTWORTH, Jill's stepbrother.
JACK WENTWORTH, Jill's brother.
SYLVIA SUTTON, old mistress.

Yesterday, Mrs. Wentworth moves again to bring Milo Montanna into Jill's life. Calling, she finds the name of Alan Jeffery in Jill's party invitations, recently with dignity that he is the poor artist.

CHAPTER XIV
MISS DEXTER, watching Mrs. Wentworth nervously, saw her face turn a dull red. She was still staring down at the list.

Jeffery, Mrs. Wentworth was thinking. Where had she heard that name? Oh, yes, Jill had told her it was the name of the young man who had stalked by Perkins. The young man who had rudely demanded to see Jill.

So this was the special reason. The rude young man with the lordly airs was the cause of Jill's suddenly awakened social interest.

She had been duped by a clever girl. If the impudent upstairs came to the party, Jill would have eyes for no one else. She wouldn't know Milo was there. And he had already hurt his feelings terribly. Jill was simply a fool who must be protected against herself.

Mrs. Wentworth scanned the boxes, which were packed in alphabetical precision, pulling out an envelope here and there until she found the J's. She could feel Miss Dexter's eyes upon her, which made no difference at all.

In a moment, she had Alan Jeffery's invitation safely out of the box. Safely in her own hands.

"I'll speak to Jill about this invitation," she said, her eyes slanting away from Miss Dexter's direct gaze.

"The old fox," Miss Dexter thought.

If she knew which invitation had been removed she would send another. But it would mean re-checking the invitations in that particular box. And now could that be done when Mrs. Wentworth still held Jill's list and evidently had no idea of returning it?

SUPPOSE she spoke to Jill about it and Jill gave the name of the objectionable young man. Mrs. Wentworth would be sure to see him at the dance and it might mean the loss of her job.

Jill, meanwhile, was going through the days plagued by a splendid hope.

Each day she waited for one "accents will pleasure. She would not allow the negative word "no" to enter her mind.

Ozan to Hold Rummage Sale on This Saturday

On Saturday, November 6, the women of the Ozan-St. Paul Missionary Society will hold a rummage sale somewhere on the main street in Ozan. The proceeds will go for some improvements on the Methodist parsonage in Washington.

The society invites everyone to visit the sale.

The vanished people of Easter Island, 2000 miles west of Chile, were egg-worshippers. They chose their rulers by egg gathering contests, in which the winner became king. They lived in egg-shaped huts.

Doing Nothing At All

He made no mistakes, took no wrong road.
He never fumbled the ball.
He never went down beneath the weight of the load.
He simply did nothing at all.

He lost no hard fight in defense of the right.
Never bled with his back to the wall.
Never fell faint in his climb for the right.
He simply did nothing at all.

So death came nigh, for life slipped by,
And he feared for the Judgment Hall;
When they asked him why, he said with a sigh,
I simply did nothing at all.

The Althean Class of First Baptist Sunday school held its regular monthly business and social meeting at 7:30 Friday evening at the home of Mrs. A. D. Brannon, East Third street, with Mrs. J. W. Slack and Mrs. Reginald Bearden as associate hostesses. The Brannon home was aglow with lovely fall flowers, Chrysanthemums and marigolds were used throughout.

Local Canning Is Largest in State

Hempstead Averages 149 Quarts Per Person on FSA Farms

LITTLE ROCK--Hempstead county ranks first in the state in the average number of quarts of food per member of the family preserved by farmers who are participating in the Farm Security Administration's rural rehabilitation program. Miss Gladys Waters, associate state director of the FSA, announced here Thursday.

October statistics reflect that Hempstead county families preserved 149 quarts of food for every member of every family participating in the program--a total of 133,910 quarts. Sharp county, with an average per person record of 143 quarts, ranked second in this classification.

Baptist Missionary Meeting Held at Ozan

The Baptist Women's Missionary Union met at the Ozan Baptist church Tuesday afternoon, and after the business meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Eugene Goodlett acted as leader for the program "Widening Ways."

The devotional study was taken from Psalms 137-141. After the opening song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," the following topics were discussed: "The Low Soul Grooves for the Low Way," Mrs. Clyde Osborn, "Which Way Do You Want to Go?" Mrs. Wilbur Jones, "The High Soul Climbs the High Way"--Mrs. O. C. Roberts.

After the close of the program, the members present cleaned the church yard.

ten home and an unusually large membership was present.

The president, Mrs. Hugh Smith opened the meeting and introduced Miss Beryl Henry as leader for the afternoon's program on Women Aviators. Mrs. Steve Carrigan Jr. discussed the life and achievements of Anne Morrow Lindbergh, whose travels with her distinguished husband Charles Lindbergh, have added much to the advancement of aviation, as she assisted him several trips that will be remembered in the promotion of airways.

The life of the late Amelia Earhart was discussed by Mrs. Arch Moore, who brought out the fact that Miss Earhart was America's leading woman aviator.

Miss Henry closed the program with a discussion of our most colorful as well as successful woman aviator, Mrs. Louise McPhetridge Thaden. Mrs. Thaden tops Arkansas' contribution to that transportation that as Lindbergh says, "Gives men freedom from the earth."

Following the program, the hostesses served a most tempting sandwich course with tea.

In mentioning the activities of the Girl Scout activities, we failed to mention the very delightful Halloween party given by the Red Wing Patrol of Troup No. 3, Mrs. Bert Webb, captain, in the commodious barn at Bass R. Gilgus' home on North Louisiana street. The attractive yard was lighted with jack-o-lanterns and the interior of the barn was most attractive in its decorations stressing the color note of the chosen theme. Games and contests were enjoyed and refreshments in keeping with the season were served by the Red Wing Patrol, which included, Misses Carolyn Trimble, Mary Lou Morgan, Dorothy Lane Henry, Emma Pearl Slade and Mary Ross McFadden.

There will be an important meeting of the Hope Library Board at 7:30 Friday afternoon at the city hall. It is urged that each member of the board make an effort to be present. Mrs. J. A. Henry, Mrs. Gus Haynes, Mrs. A. L. Black, Mrs. N. T. Jewell, Mrs. Arch Moore, Mrs. H. D. Lipscomb, Miss Annie Jean Walker, Dr. Thos. Brewster and Mrs. Ed Henry constitute the board.

At the regular meeting of Girl Scout Troupe No. 3 on Wednesday afternoon the troop voted to hold a rummage sale on the down town streets Saturday and would appreciate contributions, phone Miss Rosalyn Hall, 505-W Carolyn Trimble, 732. ## THEATERS

At the Saenger
Seldom does a book come to the screen with the back-ground of tradition which distinguishes "Heidi," famous story of Johanna Spyri read and loved by millions the world over and little Shirley Temple starred in the title role, currently at the Saenger theater.

"Heidi" was originally published in German by an authoress who had achieved an unusual prominence until the appearance of this masterpiece. In the years that followed the classic sold into the millions of copies and was translated into all modern languages. It appears on the prescribed reading lists of schools all over the world.

Booksellers report that "Heidi" is a perennial best-seller and that it is in constant demand at public libraries. Ever since Shirley Temple became America's first star of the screen, thousands of fans have written to suggest that she make "Heidi." It was in response to these requests that "Heidi" was cast in the role.

John Hersholt is featured as "Heidi's" grandfather.

LaGuardia, Moore Presidential Hopes

New Republican, Democratic Figures Before the Nation

NEW YORK --(AP)-- President Roosevelt's conference Thursday with Mayor LaGuardia, fresh from his decisive triumph over Tammany Hall, aroused new apprehensions in the city's already disorganized Democratic machine. The subjects the president and the mayor discussed were not announced, but in the past both men have moved in virtually the same liberal path.

WASHINGTON --(AP)-- Tuesday's election results serve to center the nation's attention on Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York city, returned to office by close to a half-million majority. But they also increased confusion as to national prospects to be read into the scattered verdicts of millions of voters.

That LaGuardia may receive consideration for a presidential nomination, perhaps without any intervening campaign for high state office, is the conclusion of many Washington politicians although they differ as to what sort of ticket he may head.

Only one other candidate in Tuesday's elections moved anything like definitely on to the national political stage for 1940. He is United States Senator A. Harry Moore of New Jersey, Democrat, elected governor.

His victory takes from Republican ranks one of the seven governorships they retained in previous Democratic sweeps. His candidacy for presidential, or vice presidential, honors in 1940 has been expected ever since he disclosed willingness to abandon the remainder of the Senate term to serve as New Jersey governor for the third time.

Aside from the New York city outcome, chief interest centered on organized labor's share in what happened at the polls. And labor claims far greater influence upon political events to come than the mere balancing of its successes and failures on Tuesday would indicate directly. To some observers it seemed possible that the election results and the showing made by labor groups might become a factor in the C. I. O. A. F. of L. peace negotiations to be resumed here Thursday. It was cited that where there was a considerable degree of united action between the warring factions, as in New York city, the labor vote exercised a powerful influence on results. Where they were split, as in Detroit, defeat of outright labor candidates followed. While the wish is father to the hope in administration circles here, there is a feeling that the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. will see the desirability of peace as a means of increasing labor's political gains next year.

Post Rewards for Hit-Run Drivers

Tennessee, Plagued by Accidents, Offers $250 Reward

NASHVILLE, Tenn.--(AP)--Tennessee soon will institute a general system of rewards for information leading to the arrest of "hit-and-run" drivers.

Spurred by a request from Nashville authorities, Governor Browning said Wednesday: "I will join in any steps necessary to apprehend hit-and-run drivers and prosecute them."

Attorney General Carlton Loefer, in a letter to the governor said that Davidson county "is having a siege of hit-and-run drivers" and called attention to three such fatal accidents during October. Browning said he would grant Loefer's request for $250 state rewards for information leading to the arrest and conviction of each guilty party.

BRIGHT FOR ALL-STATE
Our personal nomination for the greatest high school back running state gridiron this season is grinning Vasco Bright, 155-pound Hope quarterback.

Bright is truly an all-state man. We believe he will be selected on the mythical all-state team by the majority of sports writers and will be the choice of all coaches who have seen him perform this year.

He has been the sparkplug of the Bobcats offense all season. He has played in every game, although an ankle injury conspired to remove him from the Camden battle. Had he not been hurt, Bright might have turned the tables on that inept Panther team.

Bright is a triple-threat player of the first calibre. He has shouldered the majority of punting, passing and running with the ball. He has scored 16 of the Bobcats' 30 touchdowns this season.

As a matter of fact, the entire running game seems to be built around this sturdy little ball-carrier. Besides his offensive ability, Bright is about the best defensive back we have seen in action. Few are more adept in diagnosing intended passes.

A deadly tackler, Bright can sense intended aerial heaves and manages to be on the spot in time to break them up.

A magnificent performer, Bright will be leading down the home stretch at Blytheville this Friday night for all-state honors. There are several backs in the state this season that are making a name for themselves.

DOLLARS WASTED ON UPKEEP CAN'T BUY NEW ROADS

Inferior roads seem cheap and easy to build. They stretch a paving fund so that it covers a lot of territory. But after a year or two, the trouble begins. Maintenance costs go up and up. Soon all your paving money is spent on upkeep... and no more new roads are built.

That's why it's wise—and economical—to build concrete roads. Concrete lasts! It requires almost no upkeep. Each year, the paving fund builds more miles of concrete until the whole job is done—for keeps.

Concrete's smooth, non-skid surface is safe and satisfactory to drive on. It speeds up traffic... reduces accidents... saves gas, tires and repairs.

Get concrete. Insist on it—for safety, comfort and economy.

Pine Bluff Star Is Ruled Ineligible

C. W. McGibbony Found to Be 21 Years Old in October

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The Pine Bluff High School Zephyrs are without the services Thursday of Quarterback C. W. McGibbony.

The executive committee of the Arkansas Athletic association acting on a protest filed by North Little Rock, ruled McGibbony ineligible Wednesday night.

The decision was based on the ground that the Pine Bluff star became 21 years old on October 23, 1937. The Zephyrs are slated to meet North Little Rock in a conference tilt at North Little Rock Friday night. The Zephyrs have been undefeated this year and are at the head of the Arkansas Athletic conference with six victories.

ing bids for the mythical all-state—but toss their names in a hat, pull out one, and this writer will still take Bright as the more accomplished all-around player.

Bright is the gamiest little man we have seen this year. He'll make some college or university team a valuable man, and don't forget it—he's tough, hard to hurt, and he's smart.

There's no doubt about it. Foy Hammons' Vasco Bright is the gem of the gridiron.

We get it from a reliable source that Coach Homer Norton of Texas A. & M. Matity Bell of Southern Methodist University and Coach Fred Thompson of the University of Arkansas have their eyes on Vasco Bright and Freeman Stone.

We are told that Louisiana State is watching Captain C. V. Keith and Woodrow Parsons, the Bobcat stellar guards, and that for the past two years the University of Arkansas scouts have had an eye peeled on both Percy Ramsey and Hugh Reese.

*****
From a sports column conducted by J. P. Friend in the Blytheville Courier News we quote:

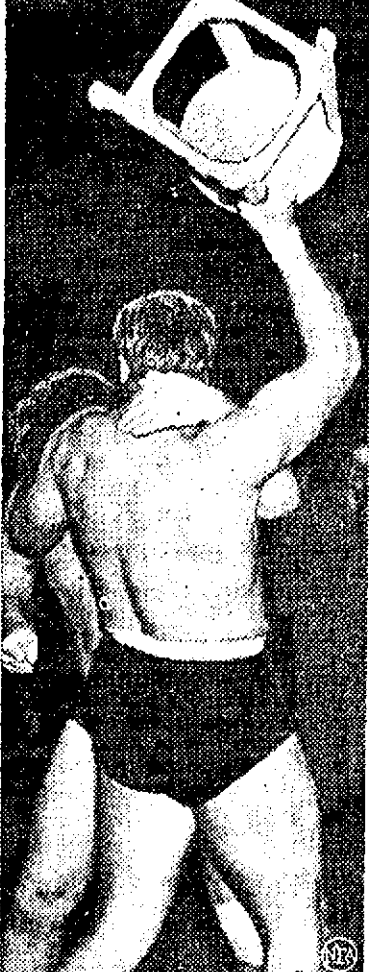

"The Chicks can look for Hope to shoot the works. . . . This guy Foy Hammons is as full of tricks as Carter is cats. . . . There is nothing he won't try. From hideout to the old chicken neck formation.

"Mama, that man again. . . . Of course, it's Vasco Bright, Hope's star of Hope. He has scored 16 of 20 touchdowns this year. Stop Bright and you will in a way throttle the Bobcats' offense. . . . He's the big gun and the team clicks better even if the defense when he's in the game.

*****
The Bobcat football team and Coach Foy Hammons boarded a Tri-State bus shortly after 8 a. m. Thursday for Blytheville. The team is due to arrive in Blytheville late this Thursday afternoon and will work out under the lights of the Chick stadium Thursday night.

*****
Don't forget the play-by-play account of the game Friday night at Hope city hall. A loud speaker will be installed and the account of the battle will be announced by Leo Robins. Adults will be charged 25 cents and students 10 cents. The game starts at 8 p. m.

23 Unbeaten Teams Battle This Week

Baylor Prepares for Texas, Alabama to Meet Tulane

NEW YORK—(AP)—Twenty-three starters in the annual football sweepstakes will go into the first November Saturday unbeaten and united. Of that happy handful, there are only seven whose performances will command attention beyond the limited area of their own cheering sections.

They are, reading from Berkeley, Calif., to Easton, Pa., in approximate geographical order: California, Santa Clara, Colorado, Montana, Baylor, Alabama and Lafayette.

The form chart says that, of the spotless seven, all but Montana and Lafayette should get by this week's installment of the gridiron obstacle race without losing glimmer in the process.

The Golden Bears, behind violent Vic Bottom, will square off against Washington coast conference champions of 1936, in their latest bid for the 1937 title and the Rose Bowl nomination that goes with it. Not impregnable against a high-powered offense, the Bears' defensive record matches that of the Huskies while their attack has rolled up four times as many points.

The Baylor (Texas variety) Bears will meet Texas, which has yet to win its first Southwest Conference game. Dana Bible, has scored only three touchdowns since his opener, and hardly seems a match for Billy Patterson and his running and scoring mates.

Alabama, with a record of 200 points in six starts, will travel to New Orleans for a Southeastern Conference bout with Tulane. A beautiful spot for mixed metaphors as the Crimson Tide goes against the Green Wave, it hardly seems the place for an upset.

The Wave has been submerged by North Carolina, tied by Auburn and accumulated 84 of its 112 points against Mississippi College.

Santa Clara, against high-scoring but minor-league San Jose State and Colorado, Rocky Mountain powerhouse, against Utah, beaten by Denver and Idaho, also seem in fairly secure position to annex their sixth triumph of the season.

The outlook for Montana and Lafayette is distinctly less promising. Lafayette, only one of the seven survivors to be unscathed as well as unbeaten and united as matched with a Bears outfit that has been scored on 16-0 and beaten only by Princeton and boasts the country's top scorer in Bill Transvitch.

Montana's opponent will be Gonzaga, not only Bing Crosby's alma mater but also the team which held Washington State and St. Mary's to scoreless ties. One item in the Montana's favor, however, is the fact that they whipped San Francisco 17-0 where Gonzaga dropped a 7-0 decision to the Dons.

Blevins, Prescott to Play Thursday

Game Will Be Played at Prescott—Kickoff at 8 o'Clock

The Blevins High School Hornets and the Prescott Curly Wolves will battle this Thursday night on the Prescott High School field, starting at 8 o'clock.

Both teams are reported in good condition and both expect victory.

The Blevins team, coached by E. O. Epperson, has lost but one game this year. Prescott have been unable to get going, although the team is reported to be gaining strength.

The probable starting Blevins lineup will be:

E. D. Yocum, left end, 145; D. Bonds, left tackle, 160; J. D. Stone, left guard, 155; E. Cummings, center, 175; Olen Mouser, right guard, 170; Taylor, right tackle, 180; J. T. Manning, right end, 150.

Present Ready
FRESCOTT, Ark.—In an effort to arouse enthusiasm to support the Curly Wolves in their last home game of the season, the high school pep squad held a bonfire and rally Wednesday night.

Blevins, the Wolves' opponents for Thursday, has sent word that it intends to bring at least seven bus-loads of supporters to the game.

The practice sessions Monday and Tuesday were devoted to improving the timing, blocking and passing defense of the Wolves. The team is full of pep for the game, ready to close the home season with a victory.

Hot Springs Wins Junior Grid Title

Push Over Touchdown in Last Quarter to Beat Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark.—Pushing over a last-minute touchdown, the Hot Springs Junior High School Spartans defeated the Jonesboro Junior High Whirlwinds, 12 to 6, here Wednesday night in a battle for the state championship. It was the Spartans' second straight year to win the title.

The visitors took the ball on the opening kick-off to the Whirlwind four-yard line, from where E. Hunter plunged to a score.

In the middle of the fourth period T. Hunter circled end for six yards and the winning score.

Dauntlessly plunged through the Hot Springs line for a yard and Jonesboro's only touchdown in the middle of the third quarter.

The Spartans held the upper hand at the battle in the first and final periods, with Jonesboro standing out in the third quarter.

Bears Prepare for Tough Texas Team

State Teachers Battle Howard Payne College Thursday Night

NORTH LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Two unbeaten and untied football eleven, Arkansas State Teachers College of Conway and Howard-Payne College of Brownwood, Texas, meet on neutral ground here Thursday night in probably the week's best southwestern intercollegiate engagement for small schools.

The Teachers are strong favorites to retain the state college championship they won last season while Howard-Payne is rounding out the same sort of title race in the Texas college conference.

Leading the Arkansasians will be the sensational Raymond "Rabbit" Burnett, little All-America candidate, who barks signals from his left halfback position. A real triple-threat man, Burnett has been the spark plug in three consecutive seasons of undefeated football at Teachers college and Arkansas Tech.

Working behind a fast charging line, Burnett guides a backfield that includes Howard "Pee Wee" Montgomery and Jack Baldridge, two of the fastest little ball carriers in the game. The forward wall of the Bears has two outstanding tackles in Joe Conit and Woodrow Holman.

Howard-Payne depends upon straight football and claims to have the best blocking team in Texas. James Minor and Waymon Wilson are a pair of hipper-dipper backs who do most of the ball carrying. Alternating in the backfield, they have gained a total of 1144 yards in five games this season, and piled up a total of 63 points.

Rufus Tollett Quits Nashville Grid Team

NASHVILLE, Ark.—The Nashville Scorpions, victims of a 25 to 7 defeat by the Texarkana Razorbacks last week, will play their last home game of the season here Friday night, meeting the powerful Subino eleven.

R. Tollett's withdrawal from the team two days before the Texarkana game has given the Nashville eleven a terrible setback as he was one of the outstanding backs on the squad and rate as the leading high school scorer in the state. Orvus Irvin has been groomed to fill Tollett's position against the Subino team.

RUSHED

Rob Smith, above, is called the best high school player ever developed in West Virginia. A senior in the backfield of Beaver High of Bluefield, the 18-year-old Smith's punts in seven games this season averaged 53 yards from the line of scrimmage. Rambling Rob's average return of punts is 41 yards, and he has averaged nine yards at rushing. The youngster weighs 160 pounds and stands 5 feet 11. He'll probably go to a preparatory school for a year before enrolling in college if in the meantime he isn't killed in the rush of scouts.

Vasco Bright Best High School Back in State, Says Scout of Chick Team

Wonder Boys Drill on Hope Plays—Don't Be Fooled Because Hope Lost to Camden, Is Warning Given to Blytheville Squad

BLYTEVILLE—"Don't sell those With Dan Warrington, star right Hope Bobcats short," was the warning end, definitely out and Fullback Le of Backfield Coach Mitchell Best and Roy "Brunco" Brown ailing with a James Ace Fickett, Junior mentor. sore throat, all is not rosy in the Chick as the Chicks started definite preparation. Head Coach Joe Diddy tions for Messers. Vasco Bright & Co. worked Hildred Bunch and Leon Stafford for at Warrington's terminal and used Big Carl Hughes at full. Bunch and Stafford were especially effective in shagging passes during the comparison. Light workout, while Hughes was running with an unusual amount of speed and drive. It isn't at all unlikely that Carl will have to open. Brown's condition was unchanged Wednesday afternoon and, even if he should be able to get up, he will likely be weak from the fever.

The Chicks will get some experience against Hope plays this afternoon. Best spent almost an hour drilling a scrub team with enemy formations. He is expected to enact the role of Bright during the drills, that will be limited to dummy scrimmage.

"When Joe Craig said that Vasco Bright, their star quarterback, was the best prep school back he had seen since Hershel Mosley he wasn't kidding. I never did see the ex-Chick in action and from all reports he must have been a great ball carrier, but I have seen Bright and I do know he can certainly carry that mail. He will have to be stopped and stopped thoroughly before Blytheville can hope to win. If they let him get loose, say at least a couple of times, the visitors are liable to have a couple of touchdowns. He does everything and well, and is so deceptive and elusive it is hard to tell just what he is going to do. Fans who attend the game Friday night can expect to see a real ball game and a real star. He is an All-State back if I ever saw one."

Craig has said all along, that is, after he saw Bright shine against Jonesboro, that Hope must not be taken lightly as long as Bright is in the game. He is the spark on the offense and the team functions much better when he is in safety position. Jonesboro scored all their touchdowns when he was out of the game. He talked as many himself.

Saves 5 ways!

REMOVES CARBON

STRONGER NATURAL FILM GIVES GREATER MOTOR PROTECTION

Naturalube's remarkable lubricating qualities bring you the perfect combination for greater motor efficiency—plus savings five ways. Naturalube saves carbon cleaning, saves wear, saves gasoline, saves in oil additions and saves on oil purchases.

Naturalube's ability to remove power-destroying hard carbon from pistons, rings, valves and spark plugs is unique among motor oils. By removing hard carbon, Naturalube prevents the annoyance and expense of power loss and costly repairs, and gives you real savings in gasoline and oil consumption.

When the oil film breaks down trouble begins—excessive wear, costly repairs. Naturalube's stronger, natural film gives protection against excessive wear—with a wide margin of safety. Because Naturalube is a reliable safeguard against friction, it will save costly repair bills.

Naturalube is refined from a rare, basically different kind of crude oil by Lion's special new process. No foreign materials are added to give Naturalube its phenomenal, strong film and remarkable ability to remove hard carbon. It is a pure, distilled motor oil.

Take advantage of this perfect combination for safe, economical motoring—a film strength with a wide margin of safety to spare and the ability to remove hard carbon. Buy Naturalube the next time you buy motor oil and start saving five ways. Sold by all Lion Stations and dealers. Look for the Lion.

Ozan Town Wins Suit for Scales

Recovers Cotton Scales From Last Year's Town Weigher

The case of C. D. Webb, 1936 weigher in Ozan, against the town of Ozan was settled in municipal court at Hope, Monday.

Webb brought suit against the town of Ozan for $500 to cover damage for the town's demanding that he give up the cotton scales which legally belonged to the town. Webb claimed that the scales belonged to the community.

When the 1936 cotton weighing season was over, Webb, instead of returning the scales to the town officials, took them to his home and refused to give them up when the 1937 weighing season opened. Webb was ordered to give up the scales by a member of the Hempstead county law force.

He then brought suit against the town. The town won the case in court Monday. The plaintiff had one witness.

The cotton scales were purchased several years ago by the farmers of the Ozan community. Five cents was taken off each bale of cotton weighed until the scales were paid for. The farmers requested that the scales become the property of the town of Ozan whenever they were paid for.

Southwest Plenty Fast, Says Bible

Daredevil Football Favored by All Conference Team

AUSTIN, Texas—Arkansas has the ball on its 10-yard line late in the game, with the score favoring the Razorbacks 7-3. The University of Texas defense is set for the punt which it believes Quarterback Dwight Sloan is sure to call.

Sloan drops back in long punt formation, and what does he do? If you know Southwest Conference football and particularly the Arkansas Razorbacks, the answer is easy. Sloan passes of course, to one of his towering ends, for a gain that moves his team out of danger.

That is the type of daredevil football spectators see week after week in the southwest. Unorthodox? Certainly. Unsound? Wait a minute.

When Sloan called that pass, he KNEW the Longhorns weren't going to intercept it. This cool, steady young man, superb passer that he is, was running no more risk of giving the ball to Texas than he would of having a punt blocked and possibly recovered for the Longhorns' winning touchdown. He knew where he was throwing the ball. About the worst misfortune he risked was loss of a down.

Passers like Sloan and his teammate, Jack Robbins, like Billy Patterson of Baylor, Davey O'Brien of Texas Christian, Ken Mills of Texas A. and M., and Ernie Lain of Rice carry on

This plan illustrates numerous features of good planning for the farm home at low cost. The plan shows the use of logs in construction, although it is equally effective in frame or rock. The rectangular plan is economical of space. The central hall affords entrance to all the rooms, and provides for heating from one central heating device. Closets, bath, kitchen equipment, and porch space are features that make the plan desirable. Complete working drawings of this plan, No. 74110, may be secured from your County Agent or Home Demonstration Agent. This is one of many plans designed for Arkansas conditions as a plan service to farm people prepared by the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture.

less than any of her sisters. Annette, then, is a non-conformist who is canny enough to break rules that don't carry a penalty. She'll say "No"—but if you say, "Oh, come on," she'll usually come. Emille, on the other hand, does not say "No" unless she means it. When she does say it she sticks to it.

It Depends Upon Her

The advantage of the discipline-by-isolation method is that it makes learning possible. When a child is isolated, she has a chance to consider whether she would rather be alone or with the other four. The length of her isolation depends entirely on her. If she wants to spend the remainder of the play period in the isolated room, no adult interferes; if she wants to come back and behave she is welcomed.

When the child-training experts set up their routine, the first rule was—"Let 'em cry." The quints, who were used to getting instant attention when they cried, found this rather hard to take, and set out at once to see whether they had more endurance than the nurses. There were times when the nursery fairly rang with the sound of wailing—one child once cried for a solid hour—but before long the quints found out who was boss. After that, things went better.

In receiving the quints' progress, the psychologists divided their history into two periods—and a comparison of the two is interesting.

It shows that the quints behave much better now than they were before a year ago. The children do far less quarreling when playing together; they behave better at the table, make less fuss when going to bed.

Soon Caught On

One incident shows how keen these five sisters are about things. It happened about a year ago, when it was discovered that more cases of disobedience were cropping out during the outdoor play period than in any other part of the routine. Since this period does not ordinarily produce much trouble, the psychologists were puzzled. At last they got the answer.

of the passing teams, the Razorbacks clinched the 1936 conference championship on a field ankle-deep in water, with rain falling in sheets; by marching nearly the length of the field on passes from Sloan to Benton and finally scoring the day's lone touchdown by the same route.

Receivers are as important as passers, and these woods are full of good ones.

Baugh refuses to admit that professional receivers are superior to the boys he pitched to at Texas Christian, Walter Rouch, L. D. Meyer, and Wilfrid Walls. Those stars have graduated, but we still have plenty of catchers—Homer of T. C. U., Boyd of Baylor, Smith of Texas A. and M., Steen of Rice, Benton and Hamilton of Arkansas, Peterson and Bryan of Texas, and Dwell and Acker of Southern Methodist being only a few of them.

During the outdoor play period, the children, unknown to themselves, were on display before the public. The public liked to see all five girls together. If one were absent, tourists would express doubt that there really were five of them. Hence the nurses had become reluctant to discipline a child, through isolation, during that period.

The quints didn't know the reason for it, but they soon caught on to the fact that at this particular time they could break the law with impunity.

Restoration of strict discipline during the outdoor play period soon ended that.

In general, the quints play together very well and have few quarrels. As in any group of children, of course, there are occasional spats—but they usually end with the two disputants sitting down calmly and playing together.

A healthy attitude of adventure is being developed in the quints' play. The psychologists have testified that it is surprising how little the quints notice the stumblings, fallings, and bumpings that are a part of all outdoor play for children. Dr. Blatz's theory is that adults in general should interfere in such activities "only to prevent homicide or suicide," carefully avoiding unnecessary interference in situations that children can solve for themselves.

Two Early for Results

The quints are learning to get excellent control over their temper, since a cardinal rule of their training routine has been that a show of anger never gets a child anything. And so, since they have little fear, seldom get angry and obey the rules as well as 3-year-olds could be expected to obey them, it can be seen that their training is progressing satisfactorily.

How will it go in the future? The psychologists' report concludes with these words:

"It is too early to prognosticate the development of the control of fear in these five children, because of their unusual environment. At the present time the stability of their surroundings makes for an atmosphere of trust and confidence, but one can suggest that very soon these children must have an opportunity of wider social contact."

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 quarts of waste. Frequent or scanty passages with aching and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

the southwest's aerial tradition. They took up this year where T. C. U.'s incomparable Sammy Baugh left off.

When you have a passer who rarely over costs you more than a down, and quite often connects for gains that cut yardage in huge chunks, it certainly is sound strategy to take advantage of his talent.

Terms Build Offenses Around Passing

Forward passing yearly is becoming more popular in football, and the southwest has headed the parade.

Virtually every team in the country now employs the pass as an integral part of its offense, not merely as a threat.

In the southwest some teams build their entire offense around the forward pass. In defeating Texas, 21-10, Arkansas threw 36 passes and completed 18, with only two intercepted and both those deep in Longhorn territory. Approximately every other play was a pass.

Throughout a three-game stretch the Baylor Bears passed for six consecutive touchdowns.

Why is the pass so popular in the southwest? First, we have the passers. Boys throw a lot in this section. Football in the fall and winter. Baseball in the spring and summer. The weather is conducive to outdoor sports the year 'round. Players come to college with the throwing habit. It is a tradition.

The weather influences the game in this vicinity.

In the north, east, midwest, and Pacific northwest, a coach wouldn't dare build his attack around passing.

His team would be almost sure to strike a number of cold, rainy, icy, and snowy days when passes would be well-nigh useless.

Rain Falls to Curl Forwards in Southwest

In the southwest bad weather is strictly the exception. There may be rainy Saturdays, but the real passing team is not seriously bothered. To refer again to Arkansas, most typical
